Resistance Crumbles In Laos

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (AP)—Fresh troops were deployed around Luang Prabang on Monday but Laotian military sources said resistance north of the royal capital has crumbled after the Communist victory at Nam Bac.

These sources said all government posts had been abandoned between Luang Prabang and Nam Bac, 60 miles to the north and the scene of a government debacle Jan. 12. They reported government control extends only a few miles in each direction from the royal capital. Senior Laotian officers predicted a major attack on the royal capital by the North Vietnamese and Communist Pathet Lao—estimated to number about 1,200 men.

But this view was contradicted by Western sources in Vientiane, the administrative capital to the south. They said the Communists had given clear signs through third parties that they did not want to risk all out war by attacking Luang Prabang, where King Savang Vathana has his court.

The king is looked upon as a unifying force for the Geneva accord of 1962 that set up Laos as a neutral nation.

Marines, South Viet Militia Abandon Town of Khe Sanh

SAIGON (AP)—A handful of U.S. Marine and South Vietnamese militia defenders abandoned the town of Khe Sanh in South Vietnam's northwest corner Monday. Hundreds of civilians, fearing they would be at the mercy of the Communists, fled the town.

North Vietnamese troops continued Tuesday to jab at Marine outposts around Khe Sanh and elsewhere below the demilitarized zone. Big B52s and other American warplanes struck back with massive raids on enemy positions.

A Marine F4 Phantom jet and a helicopter were shot down near Khe Sanh on Monday and both crews were rescued. The U.S. Command said contact with the enemy was sporadic around the town.

Marine casualties at Khe Sanh on Monday were reported as four killed and 12 wounded.

Khe Sanh is a district town made up of a complex of six mountain villages with an overall population of 10,000 persons. About 2,000 of them fled to the U.S. Marine combat base three miles north of the town in the Khe Sanh Valley. Half of them were airlifted to Da Nang.

U.S. Acknowledges Crossing Cambodian Border

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States acknowledged Monday that a U.S.-Vietnamese patrol had crossed Cambodia's border "during the heat of battle" with Viet Cong guerrillas.

The State Department said it sent formal regrets for any Cambodian casualties that may have resulted from what it called an unintended intrusion 75 yards inside Cambodian territory last Thursday.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, has demanded that the International Control Commission investigate the violation of his border and the killing of three Cambodians during the fight.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, said the incidents occurred while an American-South Vietnamese patrol was defending itself from Viet Cong gunfire coming from both sides of the Vietnam-Cambodian border.

"We regret the intrusion," McCloskey said, "R was unintended and undertaken without any hostile intent." It was the first officially acknowledged case in which American forces invoked the right of self defense enunciated a week ago by Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy. Bundy told newsmen that the United States would continue to exercise this right if Communist Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces used Cambodia as a base for attacking American forces in Vietnam and as a sanctuary for retreat.

Bundy's statement followed a protest by the Soviet Union on Jan. 12 that it "will not remain indifferent" to U.S. violations of Cambodia's frontiers.

McCloskey said Monday that complete reports have not yet been received on last Thursday's border fight, but he said preliminary information indicates that the clash occurred in a village on the South Vietnam side of the border between Prey Veng province in Cambodia and Kieng Phong province in South Vietnam.

McCloskey described the village as being "inside the bend of the border, two-thirds surrounded by Cambodian territory."

Marines, South Viet Militia Abandon Town of Khe Sanh

the other civilians would leave or take their chances on a North Vietnamese seizure.

Associated Press correspondent Robert D. Ohman reported from the Khe Sanh combat base that U.S. Marine commanders feared the small allied force in the town could not hold out against another North Vietnamese attack and could be overrun.

Wilson, Kosygin Discuss World Affairs in Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Alexei N. Kosygin began a discussion of world problems with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson Monday shortly after receiving a secret American message, apparently from President Johnson.

Wilson flew into frigid Moscow and immediately sat down in the Kremlin for substantive discussions.

Neither British nor Soviet officials would specify which world problems were covered in the 90-minute opening meeting but Wilson Monday shortly after receiving a secret American message, apparently from President Johnson.

And U.S. Embassy officials and the Russians put a blanket of silence over the purpose of American Ambassador Llewellyn lyn E. Thompson's 30-minute Kremlin call on Kosygin. They would only say that Thompson requested the meeting. That meant he had a message to deliver. The subject was not disclosed.

It was Thompson's first meeting with Kosygin since last Feb. 18, when he delivered Johnson's proposal for Soviet-American talks on limiting offensive and defensive nuclear missiles. The Soviet union has not agreed yet to begin talks, and the missile race has speeded up in the last year.

Diplomatic observers suggested Thompson might have seen Kosygin about Vietnam or about Cambodia, and Wilson would be discussing both subjects. Wilson is expected to report his findings here to Johnson during a Washington visit Feb. 8-9.

Chamber of Commerce Warns Of 'Pigeon Drop' Swindle

Warren Area Chamber of Commerce warns the so-called "pigeon drop" swindle is being used with success across the country to bilk elderly people of their savings.

Barry R. Epstein, executive vice-president of the local chamber, says victims of this street-corner con game, mostly older women, have lost as much as $5,000 to $10,000.

A report from the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Warren Area Chamber is affiliated through membership, notes that in recent months an 82-year-old Arkansas woman lost $4,600; a 76-year-old Virginia man, $6,000, and a woman in New York City, $5,000. In upstate New York, Epstein reports, three elderly women lost a total of $17,100 to the same team of swindlers.

Epstein says the "pigeon drop," as police call it, has become a vexing problem for banks and other financial institutions concerned with protecting elderly depositors.

The racket is so simple and transparent it should never work, says Epstein, but it often does, because many elderly people are not mentally alert and are easily beguiled by the prospect of an unexpected windfall. The "pigeon drop" has many variations. It commonly involves on-the-street encounter with an elderly victim, arranged by a pair of confidence women. There is talk of "found" money, and a promise to share it if the victim puts up a substantial sum to show "good faith."

Typical plot is preposterous, says Epstein, citing the case of an 82-year-old woman who lost $4,600. After having made small deposits in two banks, the woman was walking along the street, when a confidence woman approached and started a conversation. A second woman soon walked up, seeking advice on what to do with a package "found" on a bus. She guessed the package contained $10,000.

One swindler suggested they telephone her boss, described as a well-known business executive. A number was dialed, and the victim was told to talk to the businessman, and find out what to do with the package. She was told it would be all right for the three women to keep the money and share it, but was advised to put up some of her own funds in a show of "good faith." Reluctantly at first, the victim finally withdrew $4,600 from two banks, and gave it to one of the swindlers. Subsequently, the two confidence women left the victim in the street, went into an office building, telling her the executive contacted earlier would call her at the corner phone booth when it was time for her to pick up a share of the money. She waited and waited and waited. Finally she called the police.

Protecting the elderly from their own gullibility is a difficult task, says Epstein. The best advice is for relatives to assume greater responsibility for their welfare, with particular emphasis on safeguarding their savings.

Air Force Plane Carrying H-Bombs Crashes Near Thule

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force B52 bomber carrying perhaps four unarmed hydrogen bombs crashed in flames off Greenland Sunday. Six of the seven crewmen parachuted to safety. The seventh was killed.

The Pentagon reported Monday night that some of the wreckage had been observed on the surface of the ice by helicopters.

Other parts of the bomber were no longer visible, the Pentagon said, and "may have burned into or through the ice." The ice was estimated to be about six to nine feet thick over frigid water ranging between 800 to 900 feet deep.

The Defense Department statement did not say how many nuclear bombs were aboard nor whether they were lost, but it said none of the devices was armed "so there is no danger of a nuclear explosion at the crash site."

A later statement said search operations for the weapons, at first believed to have been carried to the bottom, were continuing Monday night by the light of flares and with the aid of dog sled teams. Temperatures in the area were well below zero.

Greenland is in polar darkness except for a period of what the Pentagon called sublight, which lasts from about 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. est.

The Defense Department said the $10 million B52 crashed near Thule during an emergency landing approach. It said the pilot declared an emergency shortly after takeoff, possibly in the navigator's compartment.

There was no official word on the number or type of weapons aboard the B52, but sources indicated the bombs may have been 1.1 megaton types. These pack the explosive equivalent of more than 1 million tons of dynamite.

The accident was the 10th since February 1958 involving U.S. planes equipped with atomic weapons, and it quickly caused a diplomatic ripple.

Denmark's foreign minister, Hans Tabor, in a message Monday morning, reminded the United States that planes loaded with nuclear devices are not allowed to fly over Greenland or any Danish territory.

Most celebrated of the nuclear accidents was the B52 collision with a KC135 tanker near Palomares, Spain Jan. 17, 1966, which spilled four hydrogen bombs—one of which was lost 80 days in the Mediterranean.

The Navy finally recovered the last weapon after a multi-million-dollar search of the sea floor off the Spanish coast. Three other bombs were recovered on land.

Administration Outlines $3 Billion in Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration tried Monday to speed congressional approval of a tax increase by outlining $3 billion in budget cuts. But a Republican promptly accused it of not demonstrating real restraint in spending.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, pleading with the House Ways and Means Committee to approve a 10 percent income-tax surcharge, said the cuts range from space to highways—and that some will be unpopular. All together, he said, they do not save enough to offset the need for higher taxes.

But Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the committee, told Fowler and other administration witnesses their presentation sounded to him like "business as usual, and I don't think business as usual supports a tax increase."

Byrnes said he looked in vain in President Johnson's State of the Union message and in the preliminary budget figures for "any change of attitude" or "any sense of urgency or real restraint."

Fowler retorted that the administration already has taken painful budget measures that are showing up in savings and that more are planned—"the reductions are there, concrete and being felt."

He called enactment of the 10 percent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes the "single most important and indispensable step" toward stemming inflation, defending the dollar abroad and maintaining stable economic growth.

Administration officials blame a proposed $10.4 billion increase in spending for the next fiscal year on defense and expenses over which they have no control.

Fowler was joined for the third time since last August before the House Ways and Means Committee by Charles L. Schultze, Budget director, and chairman William McCleskey Martin Jr., of the Federal Reserve Board.

Lunar Module Misfires On 1st Earth Orbital Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The engine designed to land U.S. astronauts on the moon misfired on its first earth orbital test Monday, when the motor shut down too soon.

Readings from the engine, part of America's first Lunar Module moon ferry which rocketed into earth orbit aboard a powerful Saturn I rocket, appeared normal until the engine sequence was to start four hours after launch.

The descent engine was to fire for a planned 39-second burn high over the Indian Ocean, building up power levels from 10 to 100 per cent of its 10,500-pound-thrust maximum capacity.

Flight controllers reported that the engine ignited and reached the 10 per cent level, then shut down for unknown reasons.

They immediately began trouble-shooting the problem.

The bug-like Lunar Module 1, guided by a computer-directed robot nicknamed the "mechanical boy," aimed its tail-end northward as it raced high over the Indian Ocean on the third orbit for the descent engine burn.

When astronauts fly to the moon, a similar engine is to be used as a braking rocket to kick them out of a lunar orbit onto the moon's surface itself.

The misfire left unsettled the remainder of Lunar Module 1's flight plan. It was to include a longer burn of the same descent engine, lasting more than 12 minutes, and two ignitions of the module's ascent engine which will launch astronauts from the lunar surface for the return trip to earth.

The mooncraft thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 5:48 p.m. (EST) aboard the 181-foot-tall Saturn I rocket which was grounded a year ago by the Apollo 1 fire that killed three astronauts.

The powerful Saturn I, weighing more than 650 tons on liftoff, performed flawlessly as it ended a 16-minute stint on the launch pad. It initially hurled the bug-like Lunar Module, still attached to the rocket's last stage, into an earth orbit 100 to 135 miles high.

Later in the flight the space-craft will perform a series of tests to determine if it is designed properly for the critical job of ferrying astronauts to and from the moon's surface.

While the 31,700-pound Lunar Module remained attached to the burned out Saturn I last stage, the combined vehicles became the second heaviest object ever placed in space. Their weight totaled 70,580 pounds, topped only by the 280,036-pound Satellite sent up last November by the United States first Saturn V super rocket.

The space agency originally hoped to launch Lunar Module I at 2 p.m. (EST) Monday, but the countdown clock was stopped to resolve two problems.

Commissioners Will Buy New Kinzua Dam Markers

The Warren County Commissioners yesterday morning unanimously approved the appointment of Carl Burghardt, of 107 Division st., a new member of the planning commission.

They also approved an amendment to the county zoning ordinance to include Southwest township and the borough of Sugar Grove in the code after two public hearings indicated the population involved endorsed the move.

Approval was also accorded an increase from eight to ten cents per mile mileage reimbursement for county employees using their own vehicles for county business. This move, Chairman Dr. David K. Rice noted was in line with rising costs and comparable to reimbursements paid by industry and the state.

The county solicitor will also be asked to prepare specifications and advertise for two new county cars, one for the county and one for the probation office. The policy is to trade cars every two years.

In view of the fact that Kinzua Dam area and related facilities are not properly advertised in certain strategic places, the commissioners agreed to contract with the U.S. Forest Service to purchase signs drawn up on a par with those used by Allegheny National Forest as well as some smaller markers to replace present ones which have deteriorated. The signs, 16 in number, will cost no more than $1,200.

Discussion turned to the Rouse Home with chairman Thomas Donnelly stating that Beck, Tinkham & Beyer, architects in charge of remodeling the women's building, advised the need for two toilet partitions at a cost of $792. This amount exceeded the $35,000 approved for the project but the motion passed unanimously. Donnelly also stated he had contacted an architectural firm in Niagara Falls, N.Y., the same involved at Warren General Hospital in the past and at Hamot Hospital, Erie. He plans to submit sketches of the present men's building, vacated when the new wing was completed. The firm will be asked to make an evaluation to determine whether the structure can be put into proper shape for use or deleted.

A job evaluation program will get under way soon at the county home to investigate capabilities, requirements for holding posts and a full job description.

The Rouse Commissioners also approved the drilling of additional wells on the north side of Route 6 by Oscar W. Hogsett. Rice explained that under Hogsett's lease with the Rouse estate, such permission was not necessary by the board, but that Hogsett preferred the action be formally taken.

Blain M. Mead reminded that the past board of commissioners had refused approval to the oil producer but the new county solicitor ruled drilling possible under terms of the original lease.

Hogsett has drilled a total of 33 wells to date and with one-eighth in royalties going to the Rouse general fund a total of $60,000 has been realized to date.

Chairman Rice stated the survey by the National Child Welfare League of America begins Feb. 1. The study, in addition to looking at overall child welfare needs, will also center on the Hoffman Home. Rice said something has to be done about the situation to determine whether it might not be cheaper to build a new facility than remodel the old.

Plans are available to construct a complete new facility for $60,000 which could accommodate 10 children, the present percentage housed. It was pointed out that the same amount used to remodel the Hoffman Home as it stands might not be sufficient to meet required standards. The residential portion has already been condemned for use in some areas, Rice said.

School Speech Therapist Pursuing Graduate Study

Myron H. Latimer Jr., speech therapist for Warren County Schools, was tendered a luncheon at Three Flags Inn Monday noon in his honor by the Warren County Schools staff, as he departs for a leave of absence for graduate study.

Latimer will be attending Millersville State College, Millersville, Lancaster County, Pa., through August of this year. He will work toward certification as a Public School Psychologist. Millersville is the first college in Pennsylvania to offer a full graduate program leading to certification as a public school psychologist.

A native of Erie, Myron Latimer was graduated from Edinboro State College, and earned his Master's degree at Penn State University in the field of speech education and psychology.

While continuing his graduate studies, he will be working part time for the Lancaster public schools, in speech and hearing therapy.

He joined the Warren County Schools staff in 1961, as speech and hearing therapist.

Jamestown Council Okays Streets Paving List

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown's City Council, Monday night, approved a list of streets for forced paving, as submitted by BPW director, Joseph A. Veale. The list included Falconer st., from Curtis to Tiffany and short stretches of Niagara and Charlotte streets. Funds for which are included in the 1968 budget.

A number of other streets have also been designated for forced paving, but no budget allocation has been made for these streets. Highway committee chairman, Warren Erickson, said this later group of streets would not be completed in time for payment during 1968, and that funds would have to be included in the 1969-1970 budgets.

Following a lengthy discussion, the council finally agreed to present separate resolutions at its Feb. 5 meeting. One resolution would include Falconer, Niagara and Charlotte streets, while the other would authorize forced paving of the remaining streets for which there is no budget appropriation. Should the two resolutions meet with council approval a public hearing must be held, for property owners on the streets involved.

A local law was introduced and automatically tabled for two weeks, to raise the salary of city judge, Lester W. Berglund, to $8,000 per year. The council also approved a resolution authorizing a $90,000 contract between the city and the James Pendergast Library Association, for library services for 1968.

The list of 42 appointments, to city boards and commissions, submitted two weeks ago, by Mayor Charles B. Magnuson, was also unanimously approved. Another resolution authorizes a contract with the engineering firm of Nausbalt and Clark of Buffalo, to design plans for the new Foote ave. sewer trunk.

A letter from former Jamestown supervisor, Fred J. Cusimano opposing a city sales tax was also read. Cusimano urged Mayor Magnuson and the city council to abandon any plans they might have for such a tax. He claimed a sales tax would not only be injurious to mercantile business in the downtown area, but will also require local industry to pay higher prices for the commodities which they purchase.

TO SALVAGE YARD

On its way to a salvage yard in Toledo, Ohio, Monday was the wreckage of a light plane that crashed Nov. 12, 1967, at Scandia Airport. Harold Beach (left), owner of the airport, escorted the plane's remains as far as Russell. Two men that were injured in the crash have reportedly recovered. The wreckage was sold by the plane's insurers to Ellington Salvage Co. of Toledo, whose proprietor, Richard Ellington (center), came to pick it up. (Photo by Mansfield)

February 29 Last Day For Applications

The Warren Jaycees, Monday, announced, Feb. 29, 1968, will be the final day entry applications, for the 1968 "Miss Warren County" pageant will be accepted.

This year's Miss Warren County, as in the past, will reign over all Jaycee functions held during the coming year including the 1968 Fourth of July celebration. As an added incentive, for applicants, the 1968 Miss Warren County pageant is state franchised. This will allow Miss Warren County, 1968, to compete in the Miss Pennsylvania pageant, to be held later this year, in Hershey, Pa.

Entry blanks for this year's contest will appear in the TM&O later this week. Girls who wish to enter the 1968 contest are requested to write Warren Jaycees, Miss Warren County Pageant, Box 487, Warren, or contact any local Jaycee member.

Accident Causes

$350 Damage

A two car accident, at 1:47 p. m. Monday, caused an estimated $350 total damage to cars operated by J. K. Krimmel, 56, of 11 Canton st., and Gerald W. Mosack, 27, of 8632 Knapp road, West Falls, N.Y., according to Warren Borough police.

The accident occurred on Pennsylvania ave. west, near the intersection of East st., police said, when Krimmel traveling west on the avenue stopped for the traffic light at the intersection of East st. According to police, Mosack's vehicle following to close behind the Krimmel car was unable to stop, and crashed into the rear of the Krimmel vehicle.

No one was injured in the mishap which caused approximately $150 damage to the Krimmel car and $200 damage to the Mosack vehicle, according to police.

All Dogs Must Have Licenses

Florence C. Hoffman, Warren County Treasurer, warns dog owners that licenses have been procured to date for only about half the dogs in Warren County.

Licenses were supposed to have been obtained before January 15.

Owners may apply either in person at the County Treasurer's office or by mail. If by mail, 6 cents should be added to the fee for mailing the license. Fees are: Male dog, $1.20. Spayed dog, $1.20. Female, $2.20.

Full information may be obtained by telephoning the County Treasurer's office in the court house: 723-7550.

Problem of Illegal Drug Use on Campus Discussed at Meeting Called in Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Pennsylvania college official urged the state Monday to re-evaluate laws dealing with the sale and use of marijuana.

Donald K. Cheek, vice president of Lincoln University, said marijuana was no more harmful than alcohol and that its illegal status made it more attractive to young people.

"No doubt, there should be some governmental control over marijuana, just as there is over alcoholic beverages, but marijuana is not an addictive drug and should not be classified as such," Cheek said.

Cheek was among 16 college administrators and students and state officials who discussed the problem of illegal drug use on campus during a meeting of the Pennsylvania Drug, Device and Cosmetic Board.

The college representatives had been invited to testify by Dr. Thomas W. Georges Jr., secretary of health and welfare and chairman of the board.

The invitations had been prompted by a report, later said to be erroneous, that six students at a western Pennsylvania college were blinded by the sun while under the influence of LSD.

In a statement released while the drug board was meeting, Sen. Benjamin R. Donolow, D-Philadelphia, repeated an earlier charge that the Shafer Administration was suppressing information about the affair.

"There appears to be more to this than has been disclosed," the state lawmaker said.

At the same time, Donolow said he had learned of an incident at a "reputable Delaware Valley school where five students partook of dangerous drugs on the school campus in the dormitory...." As a result, he said, all became ill and one was taken to a hospital in serious condition.

While refusing to name names, Donolow stated:

"The five students, all from prominent families, have been expelled from the school. This, too, has been hushed up and kept a top-notch secret. All participants and students have been sworn to secrecy and not a word has leaked out. Therefore, it is not beyond the realm of belief that such an incident as the LSD controversy could be withheld from public knowledge."

Other college administrators who testified told of steps taken at their institutions to discourage students from using illegal drugs and to cooperate with law enforcement agencies in the arrest and prosecution of pushers.

Some administrators told the board they had no evidence that any of their students were drug users, but one student questioned whether there was any college in the state where the problem did not exist.

Con Con Gets Proposal To Retain Current Seats

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposal to retain the state's 50-seat Senate and 203-member House was put before the Constitutional Convention Monday, but the controversial plan will not be debated until later in the week.

The recommendation, the first to be reported to the convention floor, was approved by the Committee on Legislative Apportionment last week over the strong objections of some members who favored reducing the General Assembly's size.

Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick, convention president, said the proposal would not be read for the first time until Tuesday after it has been printed and a copy distributed to each delegate.

The convention is operating under legislative rules that require proposals to be read three times on three separate days before they are accepted or rejected.

Normally, the first reading would be a formality and attempts to debate or amend a proposal would not be made until the second reading. If this procedure were followed, debate on the legislative composition proposal would not come until Wednesday at the earliest.

Criminal Jury Trial Is Continuing Today

A criminal jury of six men and six women convened at 9 a. m. Monday to hear the beginning of testimony in the case of the Commonwealth vs Robert A. Colwick, of 10 Victor ave., North Warren.

The defendant is charged with corrupting the morals or tending to corrupt the morals of a minor, Colwick was arrested by state police of the Warren substation, on Nov. 14, 1967 after the mother of a 16-year-old girl appeared at the barracks.

According to testimony, Mrs. Shirley Helbauch flew from her home in Turkey and upon arrival in Warren asked police to go to 10 Victor avenue, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bearfield, to see if her daughter was there.

Cpl. William F. Kattner stated under oath that upon arrival at the Bearfield residence, he rang the bell and was admitted by Mrs. Betty Bearfield. In a subsequent conversation with the minor, she first stated her last name was Colwick and that she was married to the defendant.

Kattner testified he asked to see the marriage license and at that time the girl admitted she was not married. The minor, police told the jury, accompanied them back to the substation, with Mrs. Bearfield in attendance, where the mother was waiting.

The 16-year-old returned to Turkey with her mother and a warrant was served for Colwick's arrest at his place of employment later on the 14th of November.

Mrs. Helbauch underwent both direct and cross examination yesterday as did the police officers involved.

Defense attorney Phillip Jacobus of Kane objected to testimony as being hearsay, with Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. overruling and noting the exception.

Mrs. Helbauch told the jury her daughter had returned to her studies at a school in Switzerland following the trip to Warren allegedly in the company of the defendant, a man in his thirties.

Court adjourned at 2:30 p. m. yesterday until 9 a. m. Tuesday to permit the Commonwealth to subpoena important witnesses. District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita hopes to call additional witnesses today.

The defense has not yet had the opportunity to present its case to the jury.

Essay Contest For Students Announced

Ken Stratton, president of the Northern Allegheny Conservation Association, has announced an essay contest for junior and high school students being sponsored by the organization. To be conducted in all schools of the county, the contest will run from February 1 to March 29.

The selected topic is "What the Forest Means to Me," with the length of the essay limited to 1,000 words or less. A topic with material sources available in all public and school libraries.

Prizes to be offered to students will be awarded separately to both the senior and junior high school contestants. First prize will be $100; 2nd, $50; 3rd, $25; 4th, 5th, and 6th, $10. Rules of the contest as set up by the Northern Allegheny Conservation requires that all entries be typed, double spaced, on standard typewriter paper; limited to 1,000 words or less; and turned in to the home-room teacher by the evening of March 29.

Imaginative presentation will be considered as most important, but good grammar, spelling and neatness will be appreciated.

More complete information will be available from home-room teachers.

Makes Eating With FALSE TEETH Up to 35% Easier

Clinical tests prove you can now eat and chew better—make dentures average up to 35% more effective—if you sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. PASTEETH holds uppers and lowers more firmly so they feel more comfortable. PASTEETH is not acid—doesn't sour. No gummy, pasty taste. Helps check "denture odor". Dentures that fit are essential to health. So see your dentist regularly. Get PASTEETH at all drug counters.

nally cleared in this Franklin County town Monday where, for several hours Sunday, a derailed chemical tanker posed the threat of an explosion.

But the threat came to an end in the morning when authorities safely transferred 9,000 gallons of highly inflammable ethylbenzene from the ruptured tanker to tank trucks.

In another development, the State Public Utility Commission announced it was investigating the derailment of the six Western Maryland Railway Co. cars. Only one contained chemicals.

Three PUC engineers were on the scene in an effort to determine the cause of the accident.

The railroad said it was exploring the possibility that partial loads in some new, high-type box cars, may have caused that portion of the freight train to sway from side to side and finally derail.

This was the fourth derailment in Chambersburg in the last three weeks.

Although the tracks were cleared, some wreckage still remained in the vicinity.

it's the little things that make gas heat so great!

The cost, for instance.

There are a lot of great things about Gas heat. You take them for granted. Clean, circulating, whole-house heat seems—as natural as . . . fresh air. But the biggest thing about Gas heat is the littleness of the cost—about one-third the cost of electric heat. Maybe the cost of heating your home with Gas doesn't seem like such a big thing to you.

That's because it isn't.

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE. GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE.

The Conservation of Youth

These are times when we are placing much emphasis on conservation. With meticulous care we list our renewable and non-renewable resources and with infinite care detail those things that tend to destroy either them or their values through misuse and pollution. Then the problems we uncover in the process quickly attracts the attention of some of our most qualified scientists and solutions are sought through study and experimentation.

How different this "defined" method of procedure differs from our method of dealing with our most valuable resource - - - the youth of our nation.

Placing the cart before the horse when the problems of youth confront us, we first provide the solution, then study and experiment as the project fails, falters, or succeeds. Totally ignoring, it seems, some of the fundamental principles proven successful in those days when youth could advance to adulthood without undergoing the traumatic experience of being labeled a teenager.

While there is nothing wrong with being a teenager, there is a lot considerably wrong with the way the adult attempts to deal with them. The solutions worked out to solve their problems are most often responsible for increasing their frustrations. For these solutions are, as a matter of design, a constant reminder to the teenager that he is a teenager - - - a fact that he would just as soon forget.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Observation will tell us that a child never wants to be a child. At the earliest age children want to be grownups and will demonstrate their desires by choosing toys that relate to the grownup world. As they advance in age the means of demonstrating this desire may change, but the drive to be a grownup is still strong and demanding. And by the time they become teenagers they not only want to be adults, they expect to be treated as adults.

So when we approach the problem of guiding an individual or group of these youth-adults by asking the question "What can we do to entertain?" we are being unfair. We are suggesting to them that we still consider them to be children. Then we get upset when, even though they have gone through the motions of enjoying their associations with us, they are contemptuous of the sociological values we ourselves respect.

Seemingly, we could make much better progress if we would come to realize that the youth-adult is not a child and doesn't want to be treated as one. He is ready and willing to take his place in the adult world in a limited way.

Like an adult, he wants his energies directed toward worthwhile and lasting goals. Like an adult, he expects and respects honest discipline. And like an adult, he will relish recognition of his accomplishments.

Fail him in these respects - - - and he'll goof off.

JIM BISHOP Little Known Economist

There is a little known Soviet economist who may change the world. He is Eysel Liberman and he lives in Kharkov, a city of 950,000 population situated about 400 miles south-southwest of Moscow. Professor Liberman suggested that the Soviet government charge interest on capital investments.

Bishop

This is Communist heresy. It is socialist sacrilege. It is the bloody imprimatur of the capitalist exploiters. Liberman did not intend to under mine Communism, or to alter its course. The professor is a Russian patriot. Liberman had witnessed the failure of two five-year plans, and one of seven years. Personal observations in the factories and on the farms taught him that the government book-keeping system was kidding itself. The central government was handing out hundreds of millions of rubles to party bosses in the provinces for the production of tractors, or the growing of corn, and was chalking each one up as a profitable venture if the original investment was returned over a period of years.

The professor's pencil told him that this represented a loss. He said nothing until after Josef Stalin was safely dead, then he took a long chance and tossed it out as the new economic gospel. The party bosses discussed it gravely, and applauded grimly.

It was like dropping a rock into a shotglass of vodka. The waves spilled all over the steppes. Liberman and his disciples found fault with the collective farm system, where the communal work of many farmers produced less produce than the three percent the government permitted each farmer to till for his private use.

The department stores had ordered from textile factories so many millions of printed dresses each year; so many millions of fur-trimmed coats; so many millions of walking shoes. These were not selling in spite of government knowledge that the people needed clothes. Liberman pointed out that there is an old old law called, surprisingly, "Supply and Demand." If the government factories would stop manufacturing items selected by party bosses, and permit the ladies to determine the type of merchandise they desired to wear, the stuff would move off the racks.

That worked too. The economists told the government not to force the plant owners to build a government-approved tractor, but to let the enterprising managers devise their own—so that the farmers would have a choice of model, size, output and cost.

All of which, including interest charges, is old hat to Americans but very new chapeau to a Russian. It is possible that Russian children may be taught that, in 1965, the Soviet Union invented private enterprise.

The swing from sharp left toward political center continues on Liberman's impetus until now, almost one-third of all industry except Soviet Defense is privately managed and profit sharing.

In 1949, the Soviet government spawned Communist China as the newest and biggest of the satellites around Mother Russia. China did not believe in interest rates or private enterprise. A decade later, the baby began to denounce its political mother as "reactionist," a violator of the precepts of Karl Marx. Politically, the Soviet Union began to tilt toward the U.S.A., while calling us names.

Now Premier Kosygin and Party Secretary Brezhnev find themselves loosening the ties to Poland, Rumania and Hungary, and permitting merchants and plant managers more latitude, more equitable wage scales, and fiscal bonuses to employees. Russia is not a capitalistic nation; far from it. But it is about as far to the right of China as it is to the left of America.

The word for this is "awkward." Sooner or later, there must be an acute confrontation between the U.S. and China, and the Soviet Union cannot stand by as "neutralist" and still pretend to maintain political leadership of its bloc of socialist states. It must pick a side. Either way is anathema. If it chooses China, Russia becomes a satellite in an Oriental world; if it selects the U.S., it fights for the preservation of a capitalistic world.

So far as I know, Professor Eysel Liberman is still in Kharkov. All he suggested was that if you lend a hundred rubles for five years, and get back one hundred rubles, you have lost money. A very astute observation. . .

DREW PEARSON

Important Questions

WASHINGTON — A previous column posed the question of whether Bobby Kennedy was responsible for the investigation of Bobby Baker and whether this may have been the chief reason for the feud between LBJ and RK.

It also raised the question of who was telling the truth in so informing the President: Attorney General Clark, who said he could find no evidence that Bobby Kennedy had initiated the probe; or the FBI, which informed the President that Kennedy was behind the Baker investigation.

The whole business also raises important questions regarding the constitutional right of Americans to protection from police state methods.

The eavesdropping on Fred Black's rooms at the Carlton Hotel was obviously political. It involved political pals of then Vice President Lyndon Johnson, including the late Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma; Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic Floor Leader; Rep. Gerald Ford, the Republican Floor Leader; James Webb, head of the National Space Agency. Finally, the taps included the activities of Bobby Baker.

Nothing turned up to connect Vice President Johnson with Baker's operations, except for Baker's gift of a hi-fi set for Christmas some years earlier when Johnson was a Senator.

The bugging, case, however, has had more political repercussions than probably any other in American history.

Among other things, U.S. District Judge William Jones, one of our more courageous jurists, has ordered the FBI to produce the raw file in the Fred Black case.

What is surprising is that this is the first time in history the Justice Department has ever seen an FBI raw file. It is an amazing document, containing all sorts of innuendo, rumor and undigested fact.

The FBI is supposed to be part of the Justice Department yet the fact that Justice Department officials had never before seen a raw FBI file gives some indication of the power accumulated by the FBI and the possibility that it is becoming similar to some of the police bureaus of Europe, such as the "Deuxieme Bureau" of Paris.

The Deuxieme Bureau has long been known as more powerful than any French political figure because of its knowledge of the private lives of cabinet officials and members of the chamber of deputies.

The power to inform, the power to eavesdrop, and the power to operate without having funds double checked by any other government agency can become dangerous. The FBI, in our opinion, is the most efficient police agency in the United States. Nevertheless it cannot engage in politics; and several recent developments indicate that it does.

When it became known that the FBI had engaged in wholesale wiretapping for a period of years, Attorney General Ramsey Clark requested J. Edgar Hoover to give him a list of all cases in which illegal evidence had been obtained by wiretapping and eavesdropping. Clark wanted this so that he could ascertain whether or not to proceed with certain indictments or to release men illegally imprisoned.

ART BUCHWALD

Are We Being Tricked?

WASHINGTON — My good friend Joe Wallstop, whom all of us in the column business look on as the opinion-maker's opinion-maker, was in a foul mood when I saw him the other day. "What's the trouble, Joe?"

"I can't stand these fools who keep talking about peace in Vietnam."

"You mean President Johnson and Dean Rusk?"

"No, you idiot," he said angrily. "I mean the appeasers and the peacekeepers and the nervous Nellies who keep screaming for us to stop the bombing and sit down with the Communists."

"Oh, those fools. But why are you so upset right now?"

"Because Hanoi is trying to trick us into peace negotiations."

"I thought that was what we were going for in Vietnam."

"Don't you see? If they're asking for peace negotiations, that means they're hurting, and instead of letting up on them now, we should really start clobbering them."

"But we were clobbering them before because they wouldn't discuss negotiations with us. They thought they were winning the war. Now that they're asking for peace, they obviously don't think they can win the war, and this is the time to let them have it."

"But, Joe, what I don't understand is that if we can't sit down with them when they think they're winning the war, and we can't sit down with them when they think they're losing the war, when the hell can we sit down with them?"

"There is no good time to sit down with Hanoi. That's why we have to keep clobbering them. I have here some captured documents which indicate that it was part of Hanoi's master plan that if they couldn't win the war they would sit down with us and talk peace."

"That's serious, if true," I said. "But what's wrong with it?"

Wallstop seemed exasperated. "Don't you understand? All they want is a breathing spell from the bombing."

"But I thought the whole idea of the bombing was to bring the North Vietnamese to the conference table."

"Sure," said Wallstop, "but they won't come to the conference table unless we stop the bombing. So why should we stop the bombing to appease them?"

"I guess we shouldn't. Then you see peace as the biggest danger of the war?"

"I certainly do. It's the one thing we can't afford to have. When you start talking peace, you have to make concessions. We're in no position to make concessions to the Communists. After all, our obligation is to South Vietnam, not North Vietnam."

"From what you have said, you really can't have peace talks with the Communists, even if they ask for it, because if you do they would interpret it as a sign of weakness on our part."

"Now you've got it," said Wallstop. "If we stop the bombing and sit down with them, it will be a moral victory for their side."

"And if we continue to bomb them after they've asked for peace, it will be a moral victory for our side," I said excitedly.

Wallstop seemed weary. "It's so simple. Why do I have to keep explaining it to those fools all the time?"

Your heart transplant donor was a mouse . . .

MASON DENISON

Looking Back Over '67

(ED NOTE: Pennsylvania's two Senate Floor Leaders — Republican Senator Stanley G. Stroup and Democratic Senator Ernest P. Kline—look back over Pennsylvania's abortive 1967 legislative session, and as guest columnists of Mason Denison, offer their respective views of that session.)

By Senator Ernest P. Kline, Democratic Floor Leader

HARRISBURG — The first year of the Shafer Administration will be remembered most for imposing the highest sales tax in the nation and its failure to implement most of the Republican Party's 1967 Election Platform.

The responsibility for a year of accomplishments must be placed at the door-step of the Governor. It is essential that a Chief Executive demonstrate the kind of leadership that will result in the enactment of meaningful and needed programs.

Unfortunately, Governor Shafer failed to provide the needed leadership despite the fact that he had Republican majorities in both the House and Senate. In addition, Governor Shafer demonstrated an inability to handle the vast powers at the disposal of the governor's office, which are at their height in the first term of a Chief Executive.

As a result of the Administration's apparent inability to handle more than one issue at a time, only two major subjects were disposed of during 1967—Constitutional Reform and Taxes.

The Governor's problems began almost immediately after he took office. He chose as his first major thrust the proposal for a Constitutional Convention. He ran into difficulty right away with members of his Republican majority delegations and the Convention was approved only after Democrats convinced him of the need for improvement and gave him a majority of the votes needed for passage.

The manner in which the Constitutional Convention legislation was handled set the pace for the Administration's approach in the General Assembly during the year. The Administration was stubborn, it would consider only one issue at a time, and it would not yield to any compromise until it had exhausted its last ounce of energy in trying to ram through a bill in the form it desired.

The same questionable strategy was followed in the handling of the State's fiscal needs. The budget was submitted late. The Governor insisted it could not be reduced and tried to ram it through the Legislature without regard to reasonable proposals for cuts.

There had been hope that the Commonwealth's financial problems could be settled in an atmosphere of reason when the Governor appointed a special committee to develop a sound over-all fiscal policy.

But for reasons no one has ever been able to explain, the Governor completely ignored the recommendations of his tax study committee and went before the General Assembly with a hodge podge of taxes that touched off the fiscal furor that lasted until the end of the year.

I think it is clear to anyone who witnessed what happened in the House and Senate that Governor Shafer and the Republican Party must be held responsible for the eventual enactment of a 6 per cent sales tax and a package of other taxes that is annoying to several phases of Pennsylvania life.

The Democratic Party, principally through its House leadership where the tax bills must start, fought a battle that resulted in a $100 million cut in the Governor's budget and brought to the people of Pennsylvania the true story of an irresponsible approach to fiscal management.

The lessons of 1967 were severe. I hope they lead to better planning in 1968.

It is possible the '67 Session will be remembered as much for what it didn't do than what it did do. Despite substantial promises by the Republicans, nothing major was accomplished in the field of education. Problems surrounding teachers' salaries, implementation of a Master Plan, and increased aid to school district public and nonpublic must be met.

It took a full year to increase rates in unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation benefits, but other needed changes in those laws remain to be made.

Nothing has been done to clean up the milk mess in Pennsylvania and the insurance industry is still wheeling and dealing with a free hand in Pennsylvania.

No significant programs were advanced, let alone passed to help the farmer and little else was done for persons who live in the big cities.

Presidential After-Thoughts

The President, it is said, hand-wrote the version of the State of the Union address we all heard, and the credibility gap notwithstanding, it is altogether plausible that it is so. It was a pretty awful speech, awful in every sense. In concept, it was utterly unimaginative. In style, totally, relentlessly lacking in distinction. Mr. Johnson's delivery—surely—is the worst in history? My own memory goes back only as far as FDR, who was supreme and they say that President Buchanan was pretty bad, but sight unseen, I'd listen to James Buchanan read through the entire encyclopaedia, rather than the incumbent recite one poem by Edgar Guest.

The principal deficiencies of the speech have been fully remarked — the failure to integrate the Vietnam War to our foreign policy; the failure to explore the root causes of the restlessness to which he fleetingly alluded; the encyclopaedic enumeration of all the blessings he has conferred upon us (the President even found time to mention his program for the redwood trees in California, at which point Mr. Arthur Schlesinger leaned over to me and whispered "better redwoods than deadwoods," whereupon I granted him a plenary indulgence for all his past sins) etc. etc. etc. But besides all that, the speech was peppered with irritating phrases of little moment except insofar as they suggest the profile of the President's thought.

What are we to make, for instance, of the sentence: "Tonight our nation is accomplishing more for its people than has ever been accomplished before"? A moment's concentration on that sentence leads one to the brink of total dismay. Consider, to begin with, the syntax. What does he mean, "tonight"? Apparently, a synonym — more technically, a synecdoche — for "At this point." But the clumsiness is distracting. And then again, on the point of syntax, if one learns English good like a President should, you don't change from the active voice ("our nation is accomplishing") to the passive voice ("... than has ever been accomplished,") unless required to by a great national depression, or a world war. And finally, what is this about "the nation," accomplishing something for "its people"? The nation IS its people. If he meant to say that the people of America are accomplishing a great deal for the people of America, then that's okay, only hardly worth saying because it is tautological. One cannot refrain from suspecting that what the President had in mind was "the government" — that he meant to say that "the government" is accomplishing more for the people. Whereupon one objects: but THE GOVERNMENT isn't THE NATION. And don't forget that, buddy. And tempted moreover to insist: the people don't belong to the government, so that Johnson should not have referred to the nation's accomplishing more for "its" people.

Let those who will say that this is nitpicking. I write for those who care to ponder the President's thought habits, which, ideally, should be all of the nation's people.

Or consider this: "Surely a nation that can go to the moon can place a decent home within the reach of its families." Once again, a statement which read fast, or heard fast, tends to cross the stage quickly, and disappear into the wings of platitude. But it is a very foolish thought. In the first place, it is a government that decides whether to go to the moon. And the way the government gets to the moon is by taking money from the people which might otherwise have been spent in building more houses. Since the government's decisions are backed by the power of the police, what the government desires, the government gets. In a totalitarian state like Russia the government can decide to go to the moon even if it means that in its capital city families have to live two to a room, separated by a curtain.

SYLVIA PORTER

Your Money's Worth

Let's say your cottage needs painting, a job which will take four days. Would you save money by staying home from work and doing the painting yourself, or by hiring somebody else to do it while you work extra hours at your job for extra pay?

Answer: If you're in the $5,000 or under yearly income bracket, you probably would save money by painting the house yourself. This is because, in this bracket, your time is worth about $2.50 an hour, less than the amount you probably would have to pay an outsider to paint the cottage. However, if you're in the $30,000 income bracket and do the job yourself, the labor you invest will cost you a total of $480, or a lot more than it would cost to hire someone else.

Or let's say that your bank statement indicates you have $23 less in your account than your own records show. To trace the possible bank error might take you a full day. Is it worth it, in terms of the value of your time?

Answer: Again, it would be worth it to you only if you are in the $5,000 or under income bracket. Otherwise, it would probably make economic sense to assume the bank is correct and you are wrong, and substitute the bank's figure.

As paychecks soar to ever higher peaks, the money value of an individual's time takes on ever-increasing importance. This holds particularly for the hourly worker who has a choice in how he divides his time between leisure and job time. It is true for the self-employed worker, a salesman, for instance, who also decides his own working schedule and therefore the size of his income. It is true for millions of part-time workers—especially millions of housewives who hold part-time jobs in addition to performing their household chores.

The value of a single individual's time is also increasingly important to the corporation in terms of how individual employees use their time. A top executive earning $100,000 a year is "worth" $400 a day, or $50 an hour, or 83 cents a minute, or 1.4 cents a second. A well-paid secretary earning $10,000 a year is "worth" $40 a day or $5 an hour, or 8 cents a minute. Obviously I'm not suggesting that you should herewith abandon all do-it-yourself projects, hire others to do the work and rush back to the office. Far beyond the multi-billion dollar economic value of doing it yourself is its incalculable, intangible value in terms of recreation, emotional and physical fulfillment.

Certainly, I am not suggesting that housewives turn over household jobs to others in order to work longer hours at their paying jobs. Clearly, this is an intensely personal choice; no comparison can be made between earning an extra $3 for an extra hour at the office vs. spending that time with your child.

What I am suggesting, though, is that each of us should be aware of the actual monetary value of our own time, and weigh this value before we take on non-paying but time-consuming jobs which could just as well be farmed out to others at far lower cost.

Here's a chart to show you the value of your time at various levels—assuming an eight-hour work day, a five-day work week and a 50-week work year.

SALARY	VALUE OF 1 HOUR	VALUE OF 1 DAY
$2,500	$ 1.25	$ 10
5,000	2.50	20
7,500	3.75	30
10,000	5.00	40
20,000	10.00	80
30,000	15.00	120
40,000	20.00	160
50,000	25.00	200

THE WARREN ART LEAGUE announces a Members Show at the Art Center, 345 E. Fifth Avenue, during the first week of February. . . . A "members only" preview is to be held on February 1st when the awards will be announced. . . . It will open to the public the following night. All work must be brought to the Art Center on Friday night, January 26th, between 7:30 and 9:30 (no entry fee required). Exhibits will all be new works of art done in the various media recently by members and will be judged as a group. . . . The judge will be announced later. . . . Any member in good standing may submit three entries in any category; there is to be no restriction on size, but all works must be framed and matted. Though some will be for exhibition only, most pictures will be for sale. All who are interested are invited to browse around and perhaps take advantage of an excellent opportunity to select lasting gifts for others, or, to start a personal collection.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEMBERS who plan to attend the Dessert Bridge on the 29th, are reminded by Mrs. Shurl Glass and Mrs. Joseph Bevevino, co-chairmen, that each table must provide its own cards. There will be prizes for the high score at each table, and of course, for this particular annual affair the members are the guests of the Woman's Club. . . . However, all reservations must be in by this Friday, January 26th!

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY comes from one of the weekly church bulletins that crosses my desk. . . . "Raised voices lower esteem; hot tempers cool friendships; loose tongues stretch truth; swelled heads shrink influence; and sharp words dull respect."

MINIATURES: The Royal Purple Degree will be conferred by Kossuth Encampment IOOF No. 98 this Thursday on a class of candidates. Other business will be transacted and all members are urged to attend. A light lunch will be served after the meeting.

Russell VFW Auxiliary meets tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the Russell Fire Hall.

The Russell Thursday Evening Circle meets on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Delbert Westfall. Mrs. Ray Holt is to be co-hostess.

Someone got carried away. . . . The Bridge class on Wednesday nights at the YMCA is not "International," but "Intermediate Bridge." The class is for men and women.

St. Michael Notes

The Octave of Prayers for the Unity of All Christians will be highlighted in the parish of St. Michael Church, Sheffield, with the offering of the Holy Mass in the Latin Rite in the church Wednesday evening at 7 by Father John Carter, pastor of St. Anthony in Sheffield. Father Julius Kubinyi, pastor of St. Michael, will reciprocate with a Spoken Divine Liturgy celebrated in St. Anthony on the same date and hour. The public is cordially invited to participate.

Next Sunday will be observed as the Day of Zaccheus, the Publican.

The Pittsburgh Eparchy has announced that Archbishop Luigi Raimondi, apostolic delegate in the United States, will officiate at installation ceremonies of Bishop Stephen J. Kocisko March 5 at Holy Spirit Church in Pittsburgh.

The House of Representatives in Harrisburg adopted a resolution Dec. 20, to pay tribute to the Rev. Lawrence Zakrevsky, pastor of St. Vladimir's Ukrainian Catholic Church in Edinburgville. The resolution calls the priest "a fine churchman, citizen and sportsman."

Over the course of more than fifty years the priest has accumulated what is probably the largest private collection of fishing lures and artificial bait in the country. His collection has caught the interest of manufacturers and private individuals who want their work to become part of the collection that numbers in the thousands.

Father Zakrevsky will be 85 years old in August. He was born near Baikal Lake in Asia where his father was stationed while an Army general. In 1903 he came to the United States as a consulate secretary.

SUZANNE LUTZ
(Hoxie, Oxford, Ohio)

June Date

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lutz of 11 Central Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne, to Bernard J. May Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. May of Flushing, New York.

Miss Lutz, a 1962 graduate of Warren Area High School, is a Western College For Women graduate and is employed at the college as assistant director of admissions. Mr. May, a Miami University graduate, served two years in the Peace Corps in Thailand, and is now enrolled in the Graduate School of Geography at Clark University in Worcester, Mass.

The wedding will take place in June.

Dinner Friday
In Bradford For
Men's Fellowship

The Kinzua Area Chapter of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship will hold a dinner meeting at the Holiday Inn of Bradford on Friday, January 26, at 6:30 p. m. sharp. The Rev. John D. Steitz, pastor of the Bethany Methodist Church, Fort Lee, New Jersey, will be the guest speaker for the evening.

On Saturday, January 27, there will be a seminar for ministers only from noon to 3 p. m. at the Rotary Room, Main St., Eldred, Pa. There will be no cost for this special meeting.

Rev. Steitz is an ordained Methodist minister. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Jersey City State College and has taught in both Florida and New Jersey schools. He holds a theological degree from Berean Bible School in Allentown, Pa., and is currently completing graduate work at Drew University in Madison, New Jersey.

He has done extensive speaking for the Charismatic Movement in the United States and abroad in Germany and Scandinavia. He was a member of "The Charismatic Forum," a radio panel on the gifts of the Spirit heard over stations in the U. S. and Canada. He is presently lecturer in New Testament at the Log College in Paterson, New Jersey. Reservations for these events must be made by Wednesday.

VFW Auxiliary Rummage Sale

Definite plans were made at the regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 631 to hold a rummage sale on Friday and Saturday of this week. Kathryn Dutches is chairman and co-workers are Olga Petersen and Garnet Stewart with all the members of the auxiliary lending a hand.

President Jeanne Godwin presided at the meeting which featured a white elephant sale. Eugene Manfrey, senior vice commander of the State VFW, explained a new insurance set up for the auxiliary.

During the social hour following the meeting, refreshments were served by a committee headed by Marie Belton and Hilda Rohlin. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, this week, at which time the ladies will bring clothing and other items for the rummage sale.

John L. Haer, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick B. Haer of 619 Prospect Street, has been named to the Wittenberg University Dean's List for the autumn term of the 1967-68 academic year.

The Dean's List honors full-time upperclass students at Wittenberg who earn academic averages of 3.6 or better and freshmen who earn Honors in the university's transitional grading program for freshmen.

The university is located in Springfield, Ohio.

Cheryl Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murphy of 4442 Fairmount Avenue, Lakewood, N. Y., formerly of Warren, is presently doing her student teaching in the 6th grade at Benjamin Franklin Elementary School, Indiana, Penna.

Miss Murphy will receive her Bachelor of Science in Education from the Indiana University of Pennsylvania, in May 1969, and will be certified to teach all subjects on the elementary school level. During her college career, Miss Murphy has been an active member of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority, and the Association of Childhood Education.

Betty R. Marlin of McPherson street, and widow of the former Sylvania executive Robert F. Marlin, has been named to the Dean's List for academic excellence in the Fall Quarter at Ferris State College, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Mrs. Marlin, enrolled in the School of Health Sciences, is working toward a Bachelor of Science degree in Dental Assistant.

If the Shoe Fits

James R. Valone

Foot-saving Education

Where do feet expand?

Two pairs of feet can measure the same at rest, but be distinctly different in size when supporting the body.

When bearing weight, the foot expands in all directions, the toes stretch forward and fan out a bit, the heel extends backward, and the ball of the foot widens. More of the foot in every part comes in contact with the ground - at the heel, ball, toes, arch, outer border.

All this is important in proper shoe fitting. Some feet will expand and stretch more than others due to foot weakness, or a hereditary condition or, perhaps due to body weight, or physical type of foot.

This makes shoe fitting a highly individual matter, even between the left and right foot of the same person. Both shoes should always be fitted and walked on before purchase.

important difference

and ours?

FIRST PRIZE fresh pork sausage has so much choice lean meat in it, it actually gives you less fryaway than other sausage you can buy. It's like getting more sausage in a pound. The freshness of the pork we use is United States Government inspected, and so is every step in its processing. If FIRST PRIZE costs you a little more, it's because what you're buying is lean meat—naturally spiced with imported spices. Little links, regular links, and one-pound bags for patties.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL R. GIBSON

Paul R. Gibsons Celebrate Their 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Gibson of Youngsville were honored on their 40th anniversary Sunday, January 14, at an open house held at National Forge Clubhouse, Irvine. The party was given by their four children, Mr. and Mrs. William Rensma of Youngsville, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gibson Jr., Mrs. Laura Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swan of Panorama City, California.

Miss Bernice Dingfelder of West Spring Creek and Paul Gibson of Pittsfield were married by the Rev. Amos Mayhew at Jamestown, N.Y., on January 11, 1928. They have lived most of their married life in Youngsville.

For their anniversary, Mrs. Gibson wore a white brocade dress and a corsage of red roses. Mr. Gibson was honored with a carnation boutonniere.

A four tier wedding cake centered the table and was flanked by pink tapers in candelabra. Two gift flower arrangements and a pink centerpiece adorned the serving table. Guest tables and decorations throughout followed the pink and white theme.

In spite of stormy weather, over 140 friends and relatives from Cassadaga, Jamestown, Erie, Waterford, Titusville, Corry, Clymer, Warren, Ludlow and Youngsville area came to congratulate the couple. A surprise visit from their daughter, Mrs. Charles Swan of Panorama City, Calif., highlighted the day.

Club Meeting In Frewsburg

"How about an evening out which can stay with you for eternity?" is the question posed by the Bible Club Movement. The group is meeting on Monday, January 29, at 7:30 p. m. in the Ivory Baptist Church of Frewsburg.

The Emanuel Baptist Church group will bring special music, and their pastor, the Rev. Howard Cartwright, will lead devotions. The Warren County missionary, Mrs. May Minser, will have a flannelgraph story of the Bible.

Everyone is welcome to attend. Want your pie to have a shiny top crust? Beat up an egg with a tablespoon of cold water and brush the mixture over the pastry before the pie goes in the oven.

You'll need a large pot, three quarts of boiling water and a tablespoon of salt for cooking half a pound of macaroni.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem is a 68-year-old husband who has less sense than his teen-age grandson when it comes to how to behave around girls. Alex acts his worst when we go out to eat. If the waitress has her name on her uniform he has to use it immediately. For example: "Hello, Hazel. My but you look pretty tonight!" What is the old buzzard trying to prove . . . that he can read?

I have told Alex dozens of times that it embarrasses me when he gets personal with the waitresses and they do not appreciate it either. He says I am crazy . . . that ALL women like to be told they have pretty hair or a lovely smile or a nice figure. When I reminded him that it has been 45 years since I have had a compliment from him he said, "Wives don't count."

Why does he behave this way and what can I do about it? — OLD GRAY MARE

DEAR MARE: Alex knows it's a sure way to get your goat and he will continue to behave this way as long as you let him know he is succeeding. If you've been married for 45 years and this is all you have to complain about, Lady, you are lucky. Be glad he can see.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 16-year-old daughter is driving me crazy. Lynn is a sophomore in high school and she spends twice as much time on her hair as on her homework.

Her last report card was disgraceful . . . nothing over a C and mostly D's. Lynn washes her hair every other night and rolls it up on curlers. This is tremendously time consuming because her hair is very long and thick.

In the meantime the family never sees her looking nice. When she comes to the dinner table her hair is already up in curlers. Frankly I am sick of it. I will not allow Lynn to go to bed with a wet head so she must dry it before she sleeps, and this takes another hour. Every morning Lynn brushes and teases her hair for at least 30 minutes which means she has no time for a nourishing breakfast.

If you say this is just a phase I will keep quiet and continue to take tranquilizers. How about it? — MOTHER MARY

DEAR MOTHER: Be thankful it's a daughter and not a son you are writing about.

Hair has always been a major bone of contention between parents and children and so long as there is hair there will be disagreement. As to what should be done about it, my advice is to save your pipes, Mother. Insist that Lynn get her grades up if she wants to enjoy dating privileges but leave her hair out of it.

DEAR ANN: During the holidays we gave a series of small dinner parties. On two separate occasions, invited guests brought along another couple. I would not have minded if they had telephoned first but they just showed up and said, "We knew it would be O.K."

I felt like a hypocrite smiling and saying, "Oh, it's perfectly all right." Frankly, I was burned up. My husband says I am petty. What do you say? — SHORT ON SILVERWARE

DEAR SHORT: It's extremely poor taste to bring guests without first checking with the hostess. Unexpected dinner company can mean rearranging tables and a multiplicity of other problems. Social amenity demands that a surprised hostess be pleasant under such circumstances, but nothing says she has to invite the clods back.

"CHOOSING HOME-FURNISHINGS"

COLORS CHANGE according to the setting in which they are placed. Anyone who has ever tried to match paint knows how deceptive colors can be. One which looks perfect in the color chip, or even in the can, may be quite different on your walls.

This chameleon-like quality of color, taking on different tones with varying light or shade, applies to fabrics as well as paint. Bear it in mind when choosing major pieces or accessories such as throw pillows.

A purple pillow, for example, may look vivid and strongly colored in the showroom, lying against a white background. But if you take it home and toss it onto a dark blue sofa, it won't seem vivid at all.

The same applies to other colors. The greater the contrast with the surroundings, the brighter the colors will seem. If you want to subdue color, use it with related shades. Remember, too, that sunlight will "wash out" colors somewhat, so consider the surroundings before selecting your colors.

We'll gladly help you with your color questions. It's a good idea to bring in color samples when possible if you're choosing new furniture or accessories. Stop in . . . for all of your home furnishing needs!

Dragon Wrestlers Host Rockets To Decide Section Title

It's showdown time in Section II, District X wrestling tonight when two undefeated teams, the Warren Dragons and the Titusville Rockets, meet on the WAHS mats.

The Dragons, under Head Coach Mike Weber, have swept through eight straight matches and the Rockets, coached by Chuck Walizer, have won seven in a row.

Both are 5-0 in conference competition and each has one more Section match after tonight, Warren against Oil City and Titusville against Rocky Grove.

Warren last won a conference wrestling title in 1963 under former head coach Hal Miller. The Dragons have been runners-up in each of Mike Weber's three years at the helm. Oil City defeated the Blue and White in a dual match for the 1964-65 crown and Meadville accomplished the feat in the 1965-66 and 1966-67 seasons.

Titusville has not won a wrestling championship since the inception of the league, but finished in a tie for second with the Dragons last season on a technicality.

Warren has defeated Erie Prep, Erie East, Erie Strong Vincent, Franklin, Corry, Rocky Grove, Meadville and Cranberry. The Dragons also finished first in their Holiday Tournament.

Titusville won over Saegertown, 47-11, and Cochranton, 49-5, in pre-league competition and placed second to Corry in a Holiday Tournament on the Beaver mats. In the conference, the Rockets own victories over Meadville, 27-15, Cranberry, 37-15; Corry, 30-17, Oil City, 32-8, and Franklin, 35-14. (See comparative scores chart this page.)

In Section competition, Warren has scored a total of 169 points and allowed 49. Titusville, in the same number of conference matches, has totaled 161 points and given up 69. Against the four common opponents wrestled to date, Corry, Franklin, Cranberry and Meadville, both teams have tallied 129 team points. The Dragons, however, have allowed those four teams only 37 points compared to 61 for the Rockets.

On the season, Warren is averaging 33.4 points per match to 32.4 for the Rockets. The Dragons have given up an average of 10.4 points in eight matches and Titusville has had an average of 12.1 scored against them in seven.

The Dragons, on paper, would appear to have the edge in the lower six weights on total dual match records and the Rockets have the better mark in the six upper weights.

Warren's first six grapplers have won 37, lost eight and tied two matches. Titusville, from 95-pounds through 133-pounds, has a combined record of 23-15-0. In the upper six weights, Titusville has won 36 matches, lost only two and tied two. Warren, from 138 through the heavyweight class, 30-17-0.

Combined dual matches records for tonight's varsity lineups stand at: Warren 67-25-2 and Titusville 59-17-2.

Five Rockets are still unbeaten in dual competition: John Bennett at 133, Shawn Young at 145, Craig Strawbridge at 165, Barney McCracken at 180 and Denny Muir at heavyweight. McCracken leads the Rockets in pins with six in seven matches. Co-captain Doug Sorensen at 127 is the lone undefeated Dragon. Showing only one loss in dual competition are Steve Jones at 120, Jim Mead at 133 and Co-captain Darrell Pusateri at 180.

Both head coaches expect a close, down-to-the-wire match. Walizer predicted yesterday that it would depend on the number of falls one team could collect along the way. Weber remarked that "If we wrestle well, we'll win; if we don't, we'll lose."

Junior varsity matches will start at 6:30 tonight, with varsity action slated to begin around 8 p.m. Warren's jayvees are 7-1 in competition this season.

Walizer reported last night that Jim Munn, his 88-pounder, is ill and an exhibition match will probably not be wrestled at that weight. Dan Albough, Warren's 88-pounder, is 5-0 this season, the third straight season the Dragons have fielded an unbeaten grappler at that weight.

The varsity pair-ups, with each wrestler's overall dual match record in parenthesis and results against a common opponent, will be as follows:

95—Bob Sequist (6-2) junior vs. Tom Goodwin (3-4) sophomore. Common opponent—Mike Mottillo, Meadville: Sequist won, 6-0; Goodwin lost, 5-1.

103—Mark Williams (6-2) junior vs. Pat Dittick (3-3) freshman. CO—Dan Coon, Meadville: Williams lost, 13-3; Dittick lost, 7-0.

112—Dane Sorensen (5-2-1) junior vs. Harry Hasbrouck (4-3) junior. CO—Pat Scurry, Franklin: Sorensen lost, 3-2; Hasbrouck lost, 5-1.

120—Steve Jones (7-1) senior vs. Mike Brady (4-3) senior. CO—Dean Fralick, Corry; Jones won by fall; Brady lost by fall.

127—Doug Sorensen (6-0-1) senior, vs. Chris Southwick (2-2), sophomore. CO—Pat Mantini, Meadville: Sorensen drew, 1-1; Southwick lost, 10-3.

133—Jim Mead (7-1) senior vs. John Bennett (7-0) junior. CO—Bob Wilber, Franklin: Mead won, 6-0; Bennett won, 4-0.

138—Steve Kaiser (3-4) senior vs. Dick Hasbrouck (6-1) senior. CO—Jim VanTassel, Franklin: Kaiser lost, 5-4; Hasbrouck lost, 6-5.

145—Mike Maines (6-2) junior vs. Shawn Young (6-0) senior. CO—Clark Eaton Corry: Maines won, 10-2; Young won, 9-0.

154—Ray Lowe (4-4) senior vs. Steve Bangs (5-1-1), junior. CO—Martin Davis, Meadville: Lowe lost, 10-2; Bangs lost, 4-1.

165—Bob Thompson (4-4) senior, vs. Craig Strawbridge (5-0-1), junior. CO—Chuck Harmon, Franklin: Thompson lost, 3-2; Strawbridge drew, 1-1.

180—Darrell Pusateri (7-1) senior vs. Barney McCracken (7-0) senior. CO—Dick Perry, Cranberry: Pusateri won by fall 1:19; McCracken won by fall, 1:18.

Heavyweight—Lee Bryan (6-2), junior vs. Denny Muir (7-0), junior. CO—Dan Corbett, Corry: Bryan won, 1-0; Muir won, 2-0.

Houston Solid Choice As Number One College Team

The Houston Cougars, who ended UCLA's unbeaten string at 47 games, topped the Bruins from first place in The Associated Press college basketball poll Monday while taking over the lead themselves by an over-

The outgoing coach, who himself coached at Penn State's DuBois Campus before coming here, said he believes the Commonwealth Campus system holds the future of athletics.

"I think really and truly the centers will be the basis of athletics for the freshmen," Egli said. "I can see it coming and I think other people can see it coming... that's been the trend."

Dr. Eric A. Walker, Penn State president, has often said he someday expects only upperclassmen and graduate students at the University Park campus, a move opposed by Community Colleges and many alumni.

Egli, whose career record is 182-130 including 5.5 this season, said he doesn't think his impending departure will have a marked effect on the rest of Penn State's basketball season.

"It's sure not going to have any effect on me," he said. "I'm going to work just as hard to help them. And I think they're old enough to realize that the university will be here whether John Egli is or not."

whelming margin.

Houston, a 71-69 winner over UCLA Saturday night, received 32 first-place votes and three for second while the Bruins drew only three for the top position and 32 for second in the balloting by a national panel of 35 sports writers and broadcasters.

Thus, on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, the Cougars had 347 points to UCLA's 318. Houston is unbeaten in 17 games.

The Bruins headed last season's final poll and had led each week since the start of the 1967-68 campaign.

New Mexico and St. Bonaventure, two other undefeated teams, gained ground. They moved up behind third-ranked North Carolina.

The Tar Heels were idle last week, their record holding at 11-1. New Mexico advanced from sixth to fourth after defeating Utah 72-66 and Wyoming 81-72, increasing its mark to 16-0. St. Bonaventure, 13-0, including last week's victory over Canisius, climbed from seventh to fifth.

Tennessee, which split two games with Florida, dropped from fourth to sixth. Vanderbilt, a 74-65 winner over Auburn for a 12-3 record, moved from ninth to seventh while Columbia also advanced two positions, from 10th to eighth. The Lions, 11-3, beat Cornell in their only start last week.

Kentucky fell one place to ninth after losing to Auburn, 74-73, and Utah, which lost twice, slipped from fifth place all the way to 10th.

The Top Ten, based on games through Jan. 20, total points:

1. Houston 347
2. UCLA 318
3. North Carolina 270
4. New Mexico 204
5. St. Bonaventure 174
6. Tennessee 139
7. Vanderbilt 92
8. Columbia 73
9. Kentucky 58
10. Utah 53

Winterburn Stars in TMO Win

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — Bob Winterburn wore the hero's toga last night as the Warren Times-Mirror and Observer basketball team edged favored Sportsmen Cafe in an overtime Taft Recreation League tilt, 74-73.

A basket by Winterburn with 15 seconds remaining in regulation time tied the score at 69-69, then the ex-Jamestown High star sunk a foul shot in the waning seconds of the extra period to give Warren the victory.

He also shared high-game honors with Bob Enserro of Sportsmen's with 21 points. Ron Anderson added 15 for the TMO cagers.

Five County Cage Teams In Loop Action Tonight

All five county cage teams will be laying their records on the line tonight as they battle it out in league contests. The Warren Dragons will travel to Titusville to meet the Section II leading Rockets. In the AML, the Sheffield Wolverines will host Ridgway and, in Upper Allegheny League action, West

Forest will be at Eisenhower, Youngsville will journey to East Forest and Tidoute welcomes Pleasantville.

The Rockets carry a 4-1 slate in Section II play. Jim Romanisyn is the Rocket key along with 6-7 Dave Lethco. Romanisyn scored 42 points against Youngsville this year to set the Titusville scoring record, while Lethco leads the Rockets in clearing the boards.

The Shantz five will remain the same as in past games as the Dragon mentor feels he has found the right combination at last, Dan Krumm, Dave Cobb, Randy Jones, and the O'Neill brothers, Dan and Ed, will be the tipoff squad for the Blue and White.

The Ike Knights will be meeting an Indian squad who came out of the cellar last week in the UAFL to edge league leader, East Forest, 77-75. Mike Vermillion is the leading Indian with an average of 16.9 points a game. West Forest now carries a 2-2 slate in the UAFL along with Eisenhower and Youngsville.

The Blue and Gold starting five will be headed by Bob Burlingame, who returned only last Friday after a two-game layoff because of an injury. Burlingame will be assisted by Tim Allen, Greg Johnson, and Jeff Lindell. The fifth position will be a toss-up between Alan Swanson and Bob Russell, as both handle the ball quite well and both should see plenty of action.

The East Forest cagers now stand 3-1, tied for first place with Pleasantville in UAFL action. The Bears are led in scoring by Jim Gatesman, who averages around 15.6 per game. The Eagles will be up against a young, but fast, ball club. Youngsville will rely on Gary Wood, Tom Burligh, Denny Walton, and George Nelson to collect the victory for the Eagles. The fifth position will probably go to Dick Andress, but Jack Maze could get the starting nod and both cagers will see plenty of action.

Tidoute will be facing a big, experienced ball club, Pleasantville carries a 3-1 slate in the UAFL to tie for first place with East Forest. The Falcons have Greg Holtz, 6-6, and Greg Reynolds, 6-4, to stop the Bulldog pursuit.

The Orange and Black lineup has failed to change as Coach Jim Bodamer puts his trust in Ed Ziegler, Mark Rondinelli, Ron Carr, Jack Shield, and Max Anderson to collect the win for Tidoute. It will prove to be a tough battle for the Bulldogs and a victory would be a pleasant gift for Orange and Black fans.

Sheffield will be back in league action as they meet the Ridgway Elkers. Both squads carry a .500 mark with a 1-1 record. The Elkers will be led by their sole letterman, Dan Pierce. Pierce, 5-8, has been averaging over 18 points a game. The Wolverines will hold the height advantage for the first time this year as the tallest Elker stands 5-11.

The Wolverines will be relying on Wayne Swanson, county leader in most points scored, Robbie Hart, Jeff Scallise, Mark McGuire, and Rick Grubbs. Sheffield lost a close one to Pleasantville Friday, 70-61. If the Orange and Black plan to play into the finals, this game is a must as Sheffield plays only five league contests and the first two have left them with a 1-1 slate.

It's Official, Egli Out as Lions' Pilot

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Penn State made John Egli's dismissal as basketball coach official Monday, then handed him an administrative post supervising the sports programs at the school's vast network of two-year campuses.

Egli, the Nittany Lions coach for 14 years, said he was shocked at the news but looking forward to the new job which he'll take over July 1.

"I didn't think this was going to be released for quite a while — but that's the way these things go," he said after Athletic Director Ernest McCoy confirmed an Associated Press report of Sunday that Egli would be eased out of coaching.

Egli, 47, said his new duties haven't been fully outlined but they would be formulated at meetings with university officials sometime after the season. Egli will finish out the year as coach.

The Commonwealth Campus position, a new one, was set up by McCoy last September when he decided to make the coaching change. Penn State has 19 of the campuses around the state.

McCoy also confirmed Monday, as reported a day earlier by the AP, that Fordham Coach Johnny Bach and Duke assistant Chuck Daly were top candidates for the vacancy. McCoy indicated that Bach would visit the campus in the next couple of weeks to discuss the job, but denied it had already been offered to him.

Reliable sources, however, said earlier that the job is Bach's if he wants it.

Egli had confided often in recent seasons that he would probably step down after he became president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, a post he would have gained in about three more years. He's now a third vice president.

West Missing Barry, Thurmond in Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Two missing San Francisco Warriors have badly crimped the West's hopes of making it two straight victories over the East in the National Basketball Association All-Star game Tuesday night in Madison Square Garden.

The first Warrior was lost even before the current season started when Rick Barry, who is sitting out the year because of court action, jumped from San Francisco to Oakland of the new American Basketball Association.

Warrior No. 2 was lost to the West last Friday night when Nate Thurmond tore ligaments in his right knee during San Francisco's victory over Philadelphia.

Barry scored 38 points and Thurmond contributed 16 and snared 18 rebounds as the West won 135-120 last year, snapping the East's four-game winning streak. The East leads the series 11-6.

The loss of the 6-foot-11 Thurmond, replaced by 6-10 Clyde Lee of San Francisco puts the West at a serious rebounding disadvantage. Lee is the tallest West player, followed by 6-9 Zelmo Beaty of St. Louis.

Such talented giants as 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia, 6-10 Bill Russell of Boston and 6-10 Willis Reed of New York will be operating under boards for the East.

Rounding out the East squad are the great Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati, league scoring leader Dave Bing and Dave DeBusschere of Detroit, John Havlicek and Sam Jones of Boston, Hal Greer of Philadelphia, Dick Barnett of New York and Gus Johnson of Baltimore.

Completing the West team are Elgin Baylor, Jerry West and Archie Clark of Los Angeles, Bill Bridges and Len Wilkens of St. Louis, Bob Boozer of Chicago, Rudy LaRusso and Jim King of San Francisco, Walt Hazzard of Seattle and Don Kojis of San Diego.

Alex Hannum of Philadelphia will coach the East and Bill Sharman of San Francisco the West in the nationally televised game over ABC starting at 8:30 p.m. EST.

Home St. Posts 1st Gra-Y Win

Home Street posted its first Gra-Y Basketball League victory of the season yesterday, routing Lacy 25-5.

Tom Kottraba and Robbie Simonsen sparked Home to the triumph with 12 and 11 points respectively.

Tim Huber's three points was high for Lacy and Steve Fisher had the remaining two.

Winter Trap League Opening January 28

The Penn-York Winter Trap League held an organizational meeting Sunday at the Echo Valley Trap Club. Area clubs slated to compete over the 12-week season are Brokenstraw, Celoron, Carroll, Echo Valley, Kaibfufus and Sugar Grove.

A 50-bird event will be held each Sunday, with the host team opening its range from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Shooters need not be a member of the club with whom they compete, but no new gunners will be admitted after the first six weeks. Trophies will be awarded to the winning club, the individual high gun and runner-up. A banquet is slated for the conclusion of the season.

Anyone seeking additional information concerning the league is urged to contact Tom Font or Harold Kiser. All area gunners are welcome.

The Warren County Trap League will meet Tuesday, January 30 at 8 p.m., at the Brokenstraw Club. All clubs who plan to enter a team next season are urged to be represented.

The schedule for the winter league is as follows:

Jan. 28 at Echo Valley

Feb. 4 at Carroll

11 at Kaibfufus

18 at Sugar Grove

25 at Brokenstraw

Warren Man Offered Grid Entry

Syd Friedman, Cleveland, Ohio, theatrical agent, has announced that Emmons R. Jones, of the Warren Beverage Company has been offered the Warren-Jamestown area and Buffalo, N.Y., franchises in the newly-formed Girls' Professional Football League.

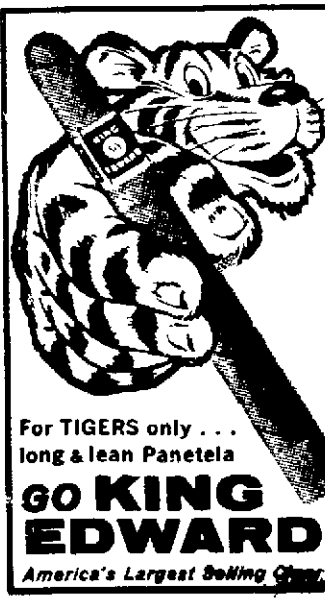

Friedman has granted franchises to teams in Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago and Erie. The Cleveland Daredevils, coached by former Cleveland Browns star Marion Motley, was organized last year and recently played an exhibition game in Erie. Former Pittsburgh Steeler Tex Maynew will coach the Steel City entry, Frank Liebel will coach the Erie club and other ex-NFL players are being interviewed for the coaching positions at Chicago and Detroit.

Friedman reported that interest in the league has mushroomed and he has received letters from people in California and Texas who are considering forming teams. Ex-major leaguer Jim Piersall represents Friedman in California and has lined up exhibition games on the West Coast for each team in the loop. These games would be played before the opening of the season.

The American Broadcasting System has expressed interest in televising one or more games for the Wide World of Sports.

By MRS. HILDUR WENSTRAN
The annual congregational business meeting of Moriah Church was held Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, with 38 members present.

The Rev. Carl F. Eliason opened with Scripture and prayer and singing of a hymn by the congregation. This was followed with reports by the pastor, treasurer, secretary and the auditors. Election of officers resulted in the following being elected: deacons for a 3 year term, Clyde Gilfert, Homer Gilfert, Frank Nelson and Leland Engman. Herbert Anderson for a 2 year term. Sunday school superintendent, Alfred Johnson, with Dean Walters as assistant superintendent; Primary department superintendent, Mrs. Lawrence Larson, and assistant superintendent, Cheryl Kearney.

Auditor for a 3 year term, John G. Johnson. Nominating committee for a 2 year term, Mrs. Carl L. Swanson and Mrs. Evert C. Johnson.

Ushers: Bertil Carlson as head-usher, and Herbert Anderson, Homer Gilfert, Enoch Nelson, Leroy Johnson, Charles Fetzeck, Evert C. Johnson, Stewart Johnson, John Cox, Neil Johnson, and Russell Kearney.

The meeting was closed by the Rev. Carl Eliason giving the benediction. The service committee served coffee, cookies and sandwiches to all.

Ludlow District Committee Boy Scouts held a meeting at Scout headquarters Monday evening with 13 Scouts attending. The chairman, Enoch Nelson, presided. Reports were heard from Neil Davidson, stating there are 19 Cub Scouts, Scoutmaster John Cox reported 23 Scouts, and Eugene Lucia, Explorer advisor, 11 Scouts. The following officers were elected, John Cox, chairman, John P. Biras, vice chairman, and John G. Johnson, secretary.

A committee consisting of Eugene Lucia, John Gidos and Irvin Stenberg were appointed to make arrangements for the Scout and Dad dinner to be held February 13, 1968 at the Legion Hall.

We pay millions in hospital, surgical and medical bills every year. We want to do better than that. We want to send you cash regularly for other expenses—up to $600 a month, depending on the plan you choose until you're able to work again. To pay for rent... groceries... and those important extras that keep your spirits up. Cash to spend the way you like. Like mother always said, "When you're sick, keep well covered." Opening lead: Five of ♣.
An inspired bit of deception by an alert defender induced South into making a fatal change of plans in his grand slam contract. Although the partnership pushed their assets to the limits, the final bid of seven spades was a reasonable undertaking.

West opened the five of clubs, a heart was discarded from dummy, East put up the king of clubs, and South was in with the ace. Declarer observed that he could not come to 13 tricks by merely ruffing out the clubs, for only one discard was available on North's high diamonds and South had two losing hearts. He, therefore, decided to establish the dummy's long suit.

The ace of spades was cashed to test the trump suit and then a diamond was led. West had anticipated his opponent's intentions and observed that, if South were left to his own devices, he could set up the diamonds with two ruffs and regain access to the dummy first with the king of spades and then with the king of hearts to run the diamonds.

In order to throw his opponent off the track, and at the same time provide the latter with an alternate line of play, West promptly followed with the queen of diamonds when that suit was led. The ace was played from dummy. It appeared to South that West was short in diamonds, in which case the suit could safely be established without fear of an overruff by first drawing trump. The ace of diamonds is cashed next and, if West shows out, the ten can be led thru East's jack for a ruffing finesse.

On this line of reasoning, South abandoned his original course and drew two more rounds of trump, ending in dummy. When he cashed the king of diamonds next, however, it was East who showed out. West's deception was revealed; however, it was too late for the declarer.

In order to salvage something on the deal, South led the ten of diamonds and passed the trick around to West, discarding a club. The defense cashed one more club trick for a 200-point profit.

Democratic Policy Committee Agrees on Compromise Slate

HARRISBURG (AP) — Democratic Party leaders completed their ticket-making process Monday by settling on a compromise slate of candidates for the April 23 primary election. Five days after a recess was called to seek a consensus on the balance of the organization slate, the Democratic Policy Committee endorsed former state Sen. Robert P. Casey for a four-year term as auditor general.

Incumbent Aud. Gen. Grace M. Sloan was backed for state treasurer, a post she had held from 1961 to 1965, while Allegheny County Common Pleas Court Judge William F. Cercone was supported for a full 10-year term on the state Superior Court.

State Treasurer Thomas Z. Minehart made the amicable agreement possible by forgoing a re-election bid to seek another two-year term as the party's state chairman, an office he has held without pay since June, 1966.

The ticket was regarded as a compromise between those elements wanting to back Sloan and Minehart for re-election and those wanting to replace them with Casey and former state Rep. John C. Pittenger as the state treasurer candidate.

Pittenger withdrew from contention in a statement to the Policy Committee prior to the nominations.

"This is a happy solution," Minehart commented. "Everybody seems entirely satisfied." It was the third time the party leaders had met to iron out the ticket.

Minehart and Mrs. Sloan surprised an informal leadership meeting two weeks ago by saying they would run again if endorsed by the policy committee after it had been widely assumed both would not seek re-election.

The first formal committee meeting broke up last Wednesday without action of the fiscal officers after endorsing President Johnson, Vice President Hubert Humphrey and U. S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark for re-election.

Mrs. Sloan was elected state treasurer in 1960 and four years later won the auditor general's post in a successful switch with Minehart.

Casey, a 36-year-old Scranton attorney, served one term in the state Senate before being upset by Milton Shapp in the May, 1966, Democratic gubernatorial primary.

Judge Cercone, 53, a nephew of state Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, has been on the Allegheny County bench since 1956.

Asks Police To Investigate Missing Ballots

FALLS CREEK, Pa. (AP) — The Jefferson County district attorney's office asked state police Monday to investigate the case of the missing ballots.

When restaurant owner John McCallus lost a borough council election by one vote, he asked for a recount. But when officials opened the sealed ballot box last week it was empty.

County Solicitor John Poer informed Jefferson County Dist. Atty. William L. Henry it was his job to find out what happened to the ballots. So Henry called on the state police.

Meanwhile, the Falls Creek Borough Council scheduled a meeting to elect men to fill out the council.

Jury Weighs Fate Of 'Commuter Bandit'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A federal jury began deliberating Monday the question of whether William Zeller pulled a string of eight bank holdups blamed on the "Commuter Bandit," who kept police and FBI agents jumping for years.

The nine men and three women jurors got the case during the noon-hour after two hours of summations by defense and government attorneys and a 45-minute charge by Judge Joseph P. Willson.

The eight holdups were among 16 stretching back to 1961 that authorities believe were committed by the same man — a man dubbed the "Commuter Bandit" because of a theory that he lived in the suburbs and drove to town for a robbery when he got low on cash.

Zeller, 32, formerly a grocer on Pittsburgh's North Side, was on trial only on charges of pulling eight holdups in which $80,077 was taken. He also was indicted for eight counts of jeopardizing the lives of bank employees.

"Was he there and was he the man — that's the crux of this case," Judge Willson said in his charge to the jury.

The jurist also discussed eyewitness testimony in general. About a dozen holdup victims had pointed out Zeller in court as the man who robbed them.

"Generally speaking," the judge said, "it's unreliable. The Supreme Court has said this." But he added that "unequivocal courtroom identification" can be considered solid evidence.

Defense lawyer James P. McKenna Jr. talked about the "inadequacy" of the government case and hinted of "chicanery."

Dozen Cars Derailed In Carnegie

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A dozen cars loaded with coal toppled from the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks with a clattering roar Monday and spilled their cargo onto Carnegie's main street.

Crews worked into the night with dump trucks and loaders to clear the hundreds of tons of pea-sized coal from the street, a service station, a supermarket yard and the fronts of three taverns.

Eyewitnesses said an unidentified motorist jumped from his car just before the coal rained down on it. No injuries were reported.

Each of the cars was filled with about 70 tons of coal moving from Mingo Junction, Ohio, to the Pennsy's Conway Yards. Officials said 42 of the 77 cars left the track and blocked main lines.

"It sounded like two great explosions," said Mrs. Alex Prevade, who watched from her window as the cars stacked up.

The cause of the wreck wasn't known.

DuPont Reports Profits Down 20 Per Cent

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — DuPont Co. reported Monday profits last year were down 20 per cent from 1966.

Profits last year totalled $314 million, equal to $6.58 a share. This compared with $389 million and $8.23 in 1966.

America's largest chemical maker, in disclosing the preliminary figures, said the reduced earnings in 1967 could be attributed mainly to lower selling prices, mainly for textile fibers like orlon and nylon, plus higher costs for new and expanded production facilities.

Sales last year were $3,079 billion, second highest in DuPont history, and just three per cent below the record of $3,159 billion posted in 1966.

Earnings and sales improved in last year's fourth quarter, the best of any in 1967. Sales amounted to $786 million, equal to $1.81 a share, compared to $756 million and $1.75 a year ago. Sales were three per cent above the third quarter and profits jumped 16 per cent.

Scouting Meet At Pleasant Twp.

A meeting for leaders and parents of the newly formed Cub Scout Pack for Pleasant Township is called for Thursday evening, January 25, at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church.

At this meeting plans will be made for the coming parents' night program, scheduled for January 31, at the Pleasant Township Volunteer Fire Department.

Special Session

Borough council meets in special session at 5 p.m. Tuesday to create the post of a code enforcement officer for the borough. Council will also consider the appointment of such an officer.

A previous applicant, according to Victor L. Miller, did not accept the job.

The future of urban renewal depends on appointment of a code enforcement officer, the post paying $6,500 a year.

Industries Face Severe Labor Shortage

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Metals-using industries in Southeastern Pennsylvania face a severe labor shortage, a survey of 400 business and labor officials shows.

Labor supply "is the most important and pressing problem" facing the metals-using firms which account for 17 per cent of the region's total employment which, in turn, supports service and non-manufacturing fields that account for 65 per cent of the total employment, the survey revealed.

The biggest shortage, according to the study conducted by the southeastern Pennsylvania Economic Development Corp., is among skilled tradesmen. The shortage is nationwide, the report noted, but an ample supply here would prove a powerful drawing card in attracting more industry.

The study, sponsored by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Alan Wood Steel Corp. of Conshohocken, Lukens Steels Corp. of Coatesville and Philadelphia Electric Co., added:

"Good workers are in short supply here, turnover is too high there are too many dismissals for cause, too many employees with no interest in delivering value received in effort on the job for a good day's pay.

Recruiting is hard, the study said, because the jobs that are open are unglamorous.

Chamber of Commerce Elects Six New Directors

Warren Area Chamber of Commerce has elected six members to serve on the board of directors, it was announced today by the ballot tabulating committee, consisting of James C. Holding, Bell Telephone Co.; Norman Kleckner, Allegheny Tire Sales; and Robert Porter, United Refining Co.

Serving a three-year term will be Robert Bowen, Bowen White Truck; Kendall Morrison, Morrison's; Philip Lively, Struthers Wells Corp.; John Lutz, Sylvania Electric Products; John D. Haggerty Jr., Warren National Bank and Merle Mitcham, Pennsylvania Bank & Trust Co.

They will assume office at the annual meeting and reorganization of the board Jan. 30, at Pace's Restaurant starting at 5 p.m. At that time new officers of the board will be elected.

Rotary Club Hears Story Of Natural Gas Business

Dan Morse, assistant secretary, Pennsylvania Gas Company, discussed the vast natural gas business in the United States at Monday's meeting of Warren Rotary Club at the Blue Manor.

Among the important functions of gas companies, he explained, are the purchase or lease of gas rights, acquisition of rights-of-way for installation of line extensions. It was remarked that during

BOWEN

With Jim Gibson as projectionist, a documentary film, produced by the Columbia Gas system, was shown on the development of the gas industry, which ranks as the sixth largest industry today.

Morse was introduced by Everett Borg, program chairman.

Dave Redmond made announcements concerning the coming inter-service-club annual Olympics scheduled for Thursday, February 15 at the Y.M.C.A.

Only one Rotarian was honored for his January birthday, Bernie Wingert, county agricultural extension agent.

President Henry Powell paid tribute to Rotarian Roy L. Blodgett, who died Friday, January 19, 1968.

Library Story Hour Wednesdays

Miss Ann Lesser, children's librarian at Warren Public Library, announced Monday that monthly story hours for school-age children will continue on the following Wednesdays at 4 p.m.: Jan. 24, Feb. 21, March 20, April 17.

Miss Lesser will be using films and other material in addition to telling stories.

One of the films to be shown on Jan. 24 is "Tara, the Stonecutter," a Japanese folk tale, in animation, of the stonecutter who stopped wishing he were someone else when he discovered how happy he was just being himself. The second film, "The Bicyclist," is a delightful fantasy about a red bicycle owned by two different boys, one who obeys safety rules and one who doesn't.

Boys and girls from kindergarten through fourth grade are invited to attend the monthly story hours at the library.
